COL. E. H. WOLFE ANSWERS CALL

Veteran of Civil War and Prominent
Mason Succumbs Following
Long Illness at Home Here

ACTIVE IN LODGE AFFAIRS

Has Brilliant Record as Soldier—
Funeral Services Will be Held
Saturday Afternoon

Col. E. H. Wolfe, 81 years old, widely known Mason and veteran of the Civil war died this afternoon at 1:45 o'clock at his home in North Harrison street, following a long illness from a complication of diseases.

He had been in a serious condition for some time and while his death was expected it never-the-less came as a shock to his family and a wide circle of friends. Col. Wolfe had been in ill health since early last spring, suffering from a general breakdown.

Col. Wolfe was born in the city September 26, 1834 and was a son of the late Joel Wolfe. He fought in the army beside his father, who was killed in the battle of Richmond. The war record of Col. E. H. Wolfe is very striking as well as brilliant.

He enlisted in the army at the age of 26 years and served throughout. His promotions were rapid due to gallantry and efficient service. He held the office of major, then Lieutenant Colonel and Colonel and was mustered out with the rank of Brigadier General. He was at one time in command of the post at Columbus, Ky., and was with Gen. Sherman on his march to the sea.

In many respects Col. Wolfe was a wonderful man. For one of his advanced age his activity was remarkable. During his long service as state inspector of the Masonic lodge Col. Wolfe traveled extensively over the state and even in his advanced age this did not appear to be a handicap. He gave up active work about two months ago and had been in bed practically ever since. He was almost as widely known outside of Rush county as in it.

Col. Wolfe's life work was centered about his active interest in the Masonic lodge and this feature stands out in his life's history as prominently as does his war record. On April 8th, 1865 he became a member of Phoenix lodge No. 62, F. and A. M.; he was worshipful master of that order for eleven years, beginning in 1870; on February 10, 1869, he became a member of Rush chapter, No. 24, R. A. M.; he was taken in the Rushville council No. 41, R. and S. M., on April 21, 1874; he attained the super-excellent master degree on May 13, 1901; he was charter member of the Rushville commandery, being taken in on May 12, 1904; and was a member of Martha Poe chapter, 143 O. E. S. after September 27, 1904; he took the ancient accepted order of Scottish Rite and thirty-second degree at Indianapolis and received the thirty-third degree in Boston in September, 1907.

In Chicago in September 1914, he received the royal order of Scotland; he was a member of the St. James Conclave in Indianapolis and was prelate of the council. For the past 11 years he has been Grand Inspector of the Grand Lodge until the time of his death which was an unusual distinction.

Col. Wolfe was an active member of the First Presbyterian church. He is survived by two children, Mrs. Fanny Maupin of this city, and Charles Wolfe of Washington, D. C.,

CONCERTS ARE RESUMED

First Appearance of Band After 2
Weeks Greeted by Crowd

The weekly band concerts were resumed last night after two weeks without any, and a large crowd gathered on the streets to hear the music. Many farmers drove in automobiles for the program. The concert by the Odd Fellows band was said by many to be the best ever given. The descriptive number was especially attractive and received loud applause.

NEXT SESSION TO BE AT FAIRLAND

Flatrock Baptist Association Ad-
journs at Rays Crossing After Sermon by Huntington

PASTOR TALKS ON TITHING

Next year's meeting of the First Baptist association will be held in Fairland. The annual session closed yesterday at the Little Blue River church, near Rays Crossing. The time of next year's meeting will be determined by the moderator, the Rev. H. N. Spear and his executive board.

The final sermon of the meeting yesterday was delivered by the Rev. S. G. Huntington of this city. He spoke on the subject "Giving to the Lord." He assured his hearers that there is a better plan than the tithing system and that is the one laid down in the New Testament of laying aside the first day of the week as God has proposed. He said this meant that we owe our all to God and that even the tenth as under the old Mosaic law is not sufficient.

WINNING FOOTBALL TEAM ANTICIPATED

Heze Clark, Former I. U. Star Half-
back, Will Coach Local Professionals This Year

SOME GAMES ARE BOOKED

Jack Stonecipher is going to have a professional football team this year with which he hopes to clean up all the strong teams in the state. Arrangements have been completed, it is announced, for Heze Clark, former I. U. star half back and now reporter on an Indianapolis newspaper, will coach the team. He will come here August 27 to look over the field and see what the prospects are. Jack is out gunning now for material and hopes to draw several starts from other points in the state.

A game has already been booked for September with Pine Village, the championship team in the northern part of the state which has not been defeated in 169 games. A game has also been scheduled with Brownsburg, also a very strong professional team. The local team is also trying to get games with Anderson, Sheridan, Fort Wayne and other prominent professional aggregations. No games will be played here.

The McCarty sale conducted Tuesday was under the auspices of J. B. McCarty and Carl McCarty instead of G. P. McCarty as was stated in the paper last evening.

TEN-CENT LOAF HOVERING NEAR

Local Bakers Say That With Price
of Flour Mounting They Face
Serious Situation

QUESTION FOR HOUSEWIVES

Possibility of Reducing Size of 5-
Cent Loaf or Discontinuing
it All Together

With wheat and flour prices soaring, local bakers are facing a situation that will have to be met sooner or later. There are several courses that can be followed, but just which one they will take is yet to be determined. Many places the bakers are charging six cents for the old five cent loaf and in other places they have done away entirely with the five cent loaf and are making only the ten cent size.

W. W. Weakly, owner of the bakery in McClaren street, stated today that he was undecided just what to do. He stated that the situation was grave from the standpoint of a baker in order to make any money selling bread at five cents a loaf.

A. W. Wilkinson, another baker, declared that he was in favor of the ten cent loaf. "At present the sixteen ounce loaf selling at five cents gives the baker no profit," said Mr. Wilkinson. "I have been considering the making of only a ten cent loaf of twenty ounces." He declared that it was a question of cutting down the size of the present five cent loaf or making only the ten cent loaf. "With flour at $8.10 a barrel," he said, "there is little money in bread and only a certain number of loaves can be gotten from a barrel of flour."

The National Bakers' organization is advocating the ten cent loaf. Paul Schultze, of the Schultze Baking Company of Chicago, in an interview says: "With the leading brands of flour at the unprecedented price of $8.10 a barrel to the dealer, and with every indication that it will mount higher, the housewife must forthwith concern herself with the problem of the breadbuying situation."

"Nevertheless everybody for a time at least may buy bread as economically, even with the small loaf at six cents. Bakers can continue to sell the large size, or ten cent loaf at its present price. From the economy, that is the size to buy anyhow."

"As I said, for a time we can bake the 10-cent loaf in the same size as heretofore. This we shall be able to do because of the labor cost saved in baking and handling the larger loaf. It does not take any more labor to make and cut dough for the ten cent loaf than for the five cent loaf. It takes no more trouble in handling it to and from the ovens, in wrapping it, loading it on the wagons and delivering it to the stores. All this saving we can turn to the relief of the housewife in these high wheat times."

"The big ten cent loaf is the ideal and practical loaf of the household. Some housekeepers have objected to it on the ground that their families do not eat the entire loaf in a day and they did not care to keep the remainder of the loaf until the next day. If they will wrap the left-over piece in the up-to-date original airtight wrapper, it will keep as fresh as it was the first day. Furthermore, bread on the second day is more wholesome than on the first. One good way to save money is to toast the left-over bread."

"I cannot too much emphasize

LOCAL BOYS MAY BE DISAPPOINTED

Protest Against Mustering out College Organizations on Border to be Filed

DISSATISFACTION CAUSED

Indiana Organizations Resent Stu-
dent Order—Five From Here
Hoped to be Out Sept. 1.

A proposed protest against what is commonly called the student order, under which the five Rushville boys with Battery B on the Mexican border hoped to be mustered out by September 1, may cause the local militiamen to be disappointed.

Because of the general complaints from the other members of the Indiana unit about the alleged discrimination of the order by the war department, the colonels of the three Indiana regiments and the major of the artillery will lay a protest before Brigadier-General E. M. Lewis, commander of Camp Llano Grande, according to a dispatch by W. H. Blodgett.

The action of the commanders, it is set forth, is not in the nature of a round robin, but is a respectful review of the situation in the hope that President Wilson will either rescind the order or change it.

The dissatisfaction, it is stated in the dispatch, is due not to the fact that the students are going home but because of what many call unfair discrimination against others of the Indiana troops who really have more cause for leaving the service than others.

For the most part, the students are supported by their parents or relatives. Not many of them pay their own way through college. In extremely rare instances only is any one depending on them for support and the feeling among the Indiana soldiers is that the students are the ones who best could be retained in the service.

On the other hand, there are in the Indiana units some young doctors, young lawyers, young dentists, and members of other professions who have just started out in life, who were beginning to get a clientele when the call came and they must stay to the ruin of their business, and the damage to their prospects. There are some apprentices, too, who would like to finish the trades they were learning when called to the colors. There are numerous business men whose affairs are suffering by their absence and there are men who gave up good positions to come here on the call.

All of them must stay unless they can be relieved under the dependent law. As the result of the situation created by the student order, the Indiana troops will be so greatly reduced in numbers that it is possible that Indiana, instead of being a unit of its own, will be part of a unit from some other state. To head off this skeletonizing of the Indiana national guard, the commanding officers are preparing to make a protest against what commonly is called the student order.

CASES CONTINUED

The Moore cases set for trial this morning in Squire Kratzer's court were continued until tomorrow morning by agreement of the parties. Dugan's attorney, who will assist the state was out of the city and the prosecutor was called to Glenwood. The continuance was granted by Squire Kratzer.

LARGE PIPE FALLS ON HAND

John Heisner of Manilla Sustains
Painful Injury

John Heisner of Manilla suffered a painful injury yesterday when a large pipe fell on his left hand mashing the middle finger. He was engaged in drilling a well at the home of John Kuntz, north of Manilla and was lifting the pipe out of the ground with a large chain. The chain slipped letting the pipe fall on his hand. It is believed that the finger will have to be amputated. Mr. Heisner is the father-in-law of Mayor Bebout.

GLENWOOD AFTER AUTO SPEEDERS

Axel Pierson of Connersville is
Latest Victim—Pays Fine and
Costs Amounting to $8.85.

OFFENSE OCCURRED AUG. 6

Automobile speeders are finding the going through Glenwood a little tough. Axel Pierson of Connersville is the latest victim. He paid a fine and costs amounting in all to $8.85 this morning in Squire Thompson's court. The offense took place on August 6.

Pierson went so fast through the town that the marshal did not have time to stop him, but succeeded in obtaining his license number. The owner of the car was then obtained from the secretary of state's office. This is the third speeder arrested and fined there within the past three weeks. Squire Thompson is determined that the practice will stop.

In a conversation this morning the justice of peace characterized Pierson's driving as "dangerous to life, limb and property." Prosecutor Stevens appeared at the hearing this morning expecting a trial but the defendant pleaded guilty.

IMPORTED HORSE CAN NOT BE STARTED

Rules Surrounding County Road
Races Will be Observed Strictly it is Stated

ENTRIES MUST BE IDENTIFIED

The speed department of the Rush county fair, which will be held next week, has made it plain that the rules governing the county road races this year will be strictly observed. It is stated explicitly that no horse imported into Rush county for the purpose of racing it in either of the road races will be allowed to enter. Neither will a horse that has been bought lately by a Rush county man for no other reason than to race it in these events be allowed to race. It is also stated that a horse transferred to a Rush county owner by special sale will not be allowed to start. Every horse which goes under the wire in these two events must be identified as a Rush county horse.

Those in charge of this feature of the speed department say that the business men have doubled the purse for these events in order to see a Rush county road race and they expect it to be one. The county road trot will be run on Tuesday and the pace on Friday.

WILSON CALLS HEADS OF ROADS

Sends For Railroad Presidents For
Conference After Settlement
Reached Deadlock

TO APPEAL TO STOCKHOLDERS

Intimated That he May go Over Officials' Heads in Effort to Prevent Strike

Washington, D. C., August 17.—Reaching what apparently was a deadlock in the attempted settlement of the threatened railroad strike, President Wilson today sent a telegram to the presidents of the great railroad systems of the country asking that they come to Washington for a conference at once. The telegram says:

"Discussion of the matters involved in the threatened railroad strike has reached a point which makes it highly desirable that I should personally confer with you at the earliest possible moment and with the presidents of any other of the railways affected who may be immediately accessible. Hope you can make it convenient to come to Washington at once."

Before sending the telegram the president talked with President Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio by long distance telephone and was assured by Willard that the railroad heads would come to Washington immediately.

The president in calling the railroad heads before him does not consider that he appealed to the "ultimate authority" it was learned after he had a long conference with William Chambers, of the United States Board of Mediation.

The expression "ultimate authority" was used by Chambers. Exactly what the president had in mind is not known but it is possible he may appeal over the presidents' heads and go to the stockholders themselves or seek another vote of the situation.

Immediately following his conference with Chambers the president retired to his library to consider his conference with the representatives of the brotherhoods.

POLITICAL POT IS BOILING IN INDIANA

Democrats and Republicans Held
Rallies and Prohis Continue
Their Auto Tour of State

ACTIVE ALL OVER THE STATE

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, Aug. 17.—Indiana boiled, politically speaking, yesterday. Both democratic and republican parties held rallies while the prohibitionists continued their automobile canvas of the state.

The republicans of northeastern Indiana gathered at a big rally at Huntington. It was an all-day affair with a picnic dinner and music by several bands. Addresses by James Goodrich, republican candidate for governor, and the two G. O. P. senatorial candidates, Harry S. New and James E. Watson, were made.

In addition to several smaller meetings throughout the state, southeastern Indiana democrats gathered at Greensburg in the afternoon and held a big Wilson Club banquet at night.

Last night the Young Republican Club of Anderson entertained the First Voters' Club of Elwood at a smoker at Elwood.

WHEEL LIBRARIES FOR MEN.

Germany Sending Motor Trucks With Books to Men on Fighting Front.

"Books for soldiers" has become the slogan of a great part of the stay at home population of Germany, and the popularity of the bildungs-kanon (educational canon), as the field circulating libraries are called by the men in gray, seems almost to rival that of the famous gulaschkanone, which supply the hot meals that keep the kaiser's fighters in condition.

The task of distributing the books has been taken over by a special committee, headed by Undersecretary Conze, which has begun to send out the libraries on wheels and which hopes to have 100 of them in service within a short time.

These bildungs-kanone, as described in the Berliner Tagblatt, consist of big motor trucks carrying from 1,000 to 1,500 volumes each, arranged on shelves and looked after by a librarian. The first five of the field libraries were sent to the eastern front. As the roads in Poland and Serbia in some cases do not admit of the use of the heavy lorries, arrangements have been made for forwarding the books in special chests.

It is estimated that one motor library will be sufficient for 20,000 men.

FOR A MERCHANT MARINE WITHOUT FEDERAL COMPETITION.

Again, we must build up our merchant marine. It will not aid to put the government into competition with private owners. That, it seems to me, is a counsel of folly. A surer way of destroying the promise of our foreign trade could hardly be devised. It has well been asked, "Does the government intend to operate at a profit or at a loss? We need the encouragement and protection of government for our shipping industry, but it cannot afford to have the government as a competitor.—From Mr. Hughes' Speech of Acceptance.

DECRYING INTERFERENCE, WE INTERFERED IN MEXICO EXASPERATINGLY.

The dealings of the administration with Mexico constitute a confused chapter of blunders. We have not helped Mexico. She lies prostrate, impoverished, famine stricken, overwhelmed with the woes and outrages of internecine strife, the helpless victim of a condition of anarchy which the course of the administration only served to promote. For ourselves, we have witnessed the murder of our citizens and the destruction of their property. We have made enemies, not friends. Instead of commanding respect and deserving good will by sincerity, firmness and consistency, we provoked misapprehension and deep resentment. In the light of the conduct of the administration no one could understand its professions. Decrying interference, we interfered most exasperatingly. We have not even kept out of active conflict, and the soil of Mexico is stained with the blood of our soldiers. We have resorted to physical invasion only to retire without gaining the professed object. It is a record which cannot be examined without a profound sense of humiliation.—From Mr. Hughes' Speech of Acceptance.

How Much Is Now Left of the Baltimore Platform?

The president had boldly signed the Pork river and harbor bill, and his facile pen is dripping with ink eager to attach itself to a pork public buildings bill.

The friendliest apologists of the president's part in the profligate waste of money wrung from the people by oppressive taxation have nothing better to say for him than that it is hardly fair to expect a man to say "I forbid" in his presidential year when he is a candidate.

The foregoing words describing the profligate waste of the people's money with executive approval are taken without change from a plank of the platform on which Woodrow Wilson was elected in 1912:

"We denounce the profligate waste of money wrung from the people by oppressive taxation through the lavish appropriations of recent Republican congresses, which have kept taxes high and reduced the purchasing power of the people's toil. We demand a return so that simplicity and economy which befits a democratic government."

How much is now left of the principles declared and the promises registered at Baltimore as inducements to citizens to vote for Wilson.

Possibly it is because he and his party have been such reckless, such wholesale repudiators of the pledges of 1912 that few people remember or care to remember what pledges were made in his behalf about forty days ago at St. Louis.—New York Sun.

THE AMERICAN WORKING MAN SHALL NOT SUFFER

The Republican party stands for the principle of protection. We must apply that principle fairly, without abuses, in as self-entitled a manner as possible; and congress should be aided by the investigations of an expert body. We stand for the safeguarding of our economic independence, for the development of American industry, for the maintenance of American standards of living. We propose that in the competitive struggle that is about to come the American workingman shall not suffer.—From Mr. Hughes' Speech of Acceptance.

Phrases which will NOT occur in the Woodrow Wilson speech of acceptance:
Psychological prosperity.
Molasses to catch flies.
Strict accountability.
Too proud to fight.
Salute the flag.
Get Villa.
Butt in.

Wilson and the Strike

Representatives of the railway employees and the heads of the railways journeyed to Washington together and, according to authentic reports from there, made such progress toward an agreement that there is believed to be no reason why Mr. Wilson, speaking with the authority of the President, cannot effect a settlement at an early day. Naturally there is great relief in New York over this prospect. Such a settlement would, of course, merely avert all immediate danger of a strike, but there will remain many questions to be settled, either by mediation, or possibly by arbitration. The danger of this great strike has served to emphasize the need of that exclusive federal control of the railways advocated in Republican platform, which declares that "The entire transportation system of the country has become essentially national," and advocates an amendment to the Constitution which will "result in placing it under complete federal control."

Maine Prospects

The Republican managers profess to be extremely optimistic regarding the outcome of the Maine election, which takes place on September 11. Both parties have determined to send an army of speakers into the state. The more notable among the Republicans will be Gov. Hughes and Col. Roosevelt. Among the Democrats will be Senator J. Ham Lewis, Secretaries Daniels and Baker and a number of others. Two Senators (one to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Burleigh) a governor and four members of the House will be chosen. The Republicans base their optimism largely on the fact that the combined Republican and Progressive vote in 1912 exceeded Mr. Wilson's vote by 24,000 votes, and the further fact that before the outbreak of the European war Maine industries were suffering severely from the effects of the Underwood tariff. Vance McCormick has just returned from a survey of the Maine political situation. He was plainly disturbed by the prospects and after remaining in New York only long enough to change his collar he rushed off to Washington to confer with the President.

Hughes Will Explain

Republican Nominee Charles Evans Hughes proposes to devote a considerable part of his attention to the mal-administration of the National Bank Act, by Comptroller John Skelton Williams, William G.

McAdoo and Woodrow Wilson, is an occasion of considerable anxiety to the Democratic managers. John Skelton Williams is one of the vulnerable spots in the Wilson administration. Had the advice of the wiser politicians in Mr. Wilson's cabinet, such for instance as Postmaster General Burleson, Secretary Garrison and former Attorney General MacReynolds, been heeded, Williams would long ago have been dismissed. There is a peculiar and mysterious tie which binds together President Wilson, son-in-law, Secretary McAdoo, and Williams, and every banker in the country will await with the utmost interest Mr. Hughes' explanation of the mystery and exposure of the inside facts, almost ruining some of them, is realized by bankers throughout the country, and in this course he has continuously enjoyed the backing of McAdoo and Wilson. Some bankers are indignant, but are too fearful of the vindictive power of the administration to speak for publication.

Napoleon Was Too Busy!

WAS a sad day for the French Emperor when he sent out the "too busy" message to a certain man who called with an idea. He told his assistants to attend to it. They lacked Napoleon's vision and soon after they took down the Corsican's sign "Emperor."

Napoleon's particular caller this busy day was Robert Fulton, who wanted to show him how he could take his troops to England by steam. Had Napoleon's eye been on the future and not glued to the present there would have been a different map of Europe, and no lonely cell at St. Helena.

During these extra war boom times a few Napoleons of business have used the "too busy" excuse when the vital question of advertising was presented to them.

They have been too busy for the immediate present to entrench prosperity and establish future good will.

To them just these words—"Remember Napoleon." Don't put off the vital question of your newspaper plans any longer. Don't wait until your competitors have covered the field.

the danger of flour prices going higher, and when they do the bakers will be helpless, so far as maintaining bread prices at their present level is concerned. From the great wheat sections of the Dakotas and Minnesota I have positive information that but a small percentage of the crop forecasted from them will be delivered. The blight and rust, developed by the intense heat in the northwest, have cut the yield to a minimum. This means high priced flour with small chance of a retreat in the prices.

I most certainly believe an embargo should be placed on wheat. We have, it is true, enough wheat in this country for this year. But should the wheat crop next year be a failure, our country would face a calamity.

"The country generally, faces an increase in the price of the five cent loaf of bread. But no evil is as bad as it first appears. If the present high price of wheat teaches the housewife to buy the ten cent loaf of bread, it will have accomplished a great lesson in domestic economy."

AGED RANCHER MAKES COSTLY TRIP TO ST. PAUL

Loses $700 In Quick Time—He Has, However, Two Mummies and a Freak Sheep to Show.

St. Paul.—An interest in two mummies, one six legged sheep and a broken down auto truck is all John McMahon, one time longshoreman and prizefighter and later North Dakota rancher, has to show for $700 from which he has been separated since coming to St. Paul last December.

McMahon is sixty-five years old and says he ought to have known better, "but folks talk so well that an old fellow like me believes them."

When McMahon reached St. Paul he met a man who took him to his home, and there, McMahon says, he was robbed of $150. The case was taken to court, but the defendant was dismissed. "Well, that was the beginning of my troubles," McMahon said. "The police tried to look after me, but I wouldn't allow them, and now I have only $400 left out of the $1,100 which I got when I sold my ranch near Bowman, N. D., and came here."

Shortly after this experience McMahon met Mr. and Mrs. Joseph La Porte, who were living at the same hotel with him.

"They were mighty nice folks at first and took me out for a good time," McMahon explained. "We went to shows and had dinners and nice little parties."

After the first week's entertainment by the La Porte family, McMahon said, they started to talk to him about the show business. They told him of the money they made traveling with carnival companies using the six legged sheep and the mummies for attractions.

"It looked like a gold mine to me, and I asked them to let me in on it, and for awhile I was worried for fear they wouldn't do it," the old man said. "But later they let me in, and I have been spending money on that sheep and those two fake mummies ever since."

Papers in Plaster Cast.

A nurse entering Holland from Germany had a "broken" arm that was incased in plaster of paris. Arriving at the frontier, where every one has to submit to search, the military guard demanded that the casing be ripped open. When the cast was broken some eighty letters lay exposed. The arm was perfectly whole and healthy.

In Berlin the municipal government is prosecuting a $25,000,000 subway and a $10,000,000 dock improvement precisely as if the nation were at peace. When they are completed the city will own them.

FEATS OF FANATICS

Dervishes of the Orient and Their Curious Practices

SEEM INSENSIBLE TO PAIN.

These Religious Enthusiasts Cut and Slash Themselves, and Under Correct Conditions No Blood Flows—Magical Cures by the Sheik.

Much has been written on the subject of the astounding things that are done by dervishes and the apparent insensibility to pain and injury that their fanaticism gives them, but the vivid account given by a writer in Blackwood's of some of these facts witnessed by himself cannot fail to prove of interest.

"In Constantinople you may see at any time howling dervishes, who howl professionally in their worship, and in Konia whirling dervishes, who similarly whirl instead of howl. And upon the road and in villages and country towns of the Turkish empire are to be met dervishes of the mendicant orders—wild eyed, austere men carrying bowl and battle ax, who wander about to places where most alms may be found. But those dervishes who lacerate themselves as the aim of their ecstasy are not, I think, to be found in any district near the coast or easy of access. In only one small town, a long way in the interior of Asia Minor, did I ever see one of their performances, and then it was in the way of a favor."

After describing the long processes of preparation by which the necessary "atmosphere" is obtained, the writer goes on:

"Presently two men left the semicircle of dervishes and stood before the sheik. On them the preparation had done its work and they were ready to begin laceration. The sheik licked the blades of two thin dagger-like knives with his tongue and handed them to the devotees. Each immediately pressed the knife through his own cheeks. It went in at one side and the point came out at the other. Meanwhile the swordsmen leaped and the semicircle roared and swayed with redoubled energy.

"Again the sheik licked two knives and handed them to the men, and again they pushed them through their cheeks, this time in the opposite direction. No blood flowed, and the operation looked as harmless, once you had seen it done, as stabbing a Dutch cheese. The sheik drew out the knives, wet the ball of his thumb upon his tongue, clapped it on the holes, and no holes could be seen, but merely white scars.

"Now, one who has not seen these or similar things done may think that some sleight of hand took place, or, failing that possibility, that I imagined these sights, being under strong influence so to do. I can only offer the evidence of my senses. I was within a distance of two or three yards when the cheeks were pierced, looked at them from two feet with the knives still in position, and at the same distance looked at the white scars that a few seconds before had been palpable holes. If I was hypnotized so were all of us, for we saw alike.

"When the display with knives was over two other men came forward as candidates for the spiked balls. The upper and lower points of the spikes were licked by the sheik and play began. The lower point was placed in the open palm of one hand, the upper point was capped by the open palm of the other, and then by a slight circular movement of the upper hand the ball was rotated violently. As it did so short lengths of chain attached to the circumference spread out and acted as a flywheel. With the balls spinning in this fashion the men began to leap, throwing them into the air, catching them with the point on an open palm and always keeping up the spinning.

"It was clever in its way, but no more, and I was thinking it a simple trick when one man dashed the spiked point forcibly into his head. The other fellow immediately followed by thrusting his into his neck. Both balls fell over and hung suspended with the point remaining in the flesh. These wounds immediately drew blood. Blood drawing, however, was not in the game. It showed something amiss—insufficient faith or preparation or both—and the sheik hastened to staunch it. His thumb went first to his infallible tongue and then to the wounds. The flow ceased under the application, and other men took up the balls. Sometimes they drew blood and sometimes not, but all the wounds made were immediately closed by the sheik and left only white scars. And these, like the other scars, whether you believe it or not, presently faded out of sight.

"It was nearing midnight when all was over. In the bazaar the next morning I recognized one of those who had used the spiked balls on the previous evening. He now appeared as an open faced youngster of eighteen or nineteen, with a smile that he could not suppress. He said he worked in the iron bazaar hard by, making rough hinges and other ironwork. And while he stood there, smiling and ingenious, it needed an effort of mind to think of him as a fanatical dervish of the previous night's scene."

COHEN RUNS SMITH CLOSE RACE IN NEW YORK CITY

City Directory Gives Interesting Data About the Metropolis.

Bigger and better than ever, the largest city directory in the world is out in New York. The information afforded comprises not only the names and addresses of 1,210,000 men and women, but all that which was formerly included in older directories. It has 105,324 names more than the city directory of last year.

Aachen has been displaced as the first name in the book. That honor, like everything else worth while in New York, has been captured by a man from out of town. In this case he is Emil Aaby, an assistant engineer for New York city, who lives up in Dobbs Ferry. The last man is Barnet Zywsky, an expressman. There are nine and three-quarters pages of Smiths, the leaders of the big families, with the Cohens a close second, covering eight full pages.

It is interesting to note that, while the police census of New York makes the total population 5,372,983, taken in 1915, the directory census, taken in 1916, makes it 5,528,751. Safeguarding these people are 10,608 policemen and 66 matrons, with 4,943 firemen. The cost of supporting the public schools this year is $39,840,349.90. The average daily consumption of water is 550,000,000 gallons.

New York contains 155,000 one-family houses, 71,200 two-family houses and 101,600 flats and tenements. The city has twenty municipal hospitals, with accommodations for 13,802 persons.

The vagaries of the names in the big book are almost past reckoning. There are, for example, Blood, Bone, Boots, Collars, Shillings, Tennis, Golfs, Terrace, Flower, Pipers, Fiddlers, Money, Primrose, Sauerwein, Kitchener, Joffre, Bismarck, Napoleon, to say nothing of Michael Angelo, Thackeray, Nero, Hercules, Taxi, Ratz, Buffalo and Lung.

SUSPENDED ANIMATION.

Life That Looks Like Real Death, Yet Revives After Many Months.

One of the most extraordinary manifestations of life is a condition quite common among the lower animals and known as anabiosis, or suspended animation. The creature is to all appearances dead. The most refined means of observation cannot detect a sign of life. The blood has ceased to flow. The nerves no longer respond to any stimulation. There is neither respiration, elimination nor sensation. This state may last a long time, but given the proper conditions the creature will come to life again.

The lower we go in the scale of life the more pronounced is this state of neither life nor death.

Some remarkable experiments conducted by E. Shultz and A. Singol of Petrograd are described by the Berlin correspondent of the Scientific American. The experimenters dried roundworms till they were as thin as paper strips, then cut them into thin slices. When placed in water the tissues swelled to their normal proportions, and the pieces of worm resumed their life just as do those of any worm that is cut up.

They took some threadworms, rotifers and microbes and dried them thoroughly, kept them thus for eight months, then locked them in an air tight box from which all oxygen was removed and through which a current of pure hydrogen flowed for two weeks. Thus they were not only dried, but effectually deprived of oxygen. Yet on being moistened they "came to life" again quickly. Strangest of all, those that had been locked in the hydrogen chamber revived in fifteen minutes, while those that had merely been dried needed forty minutes.

Works Both Ways.

Mrs. X.—Bothered with time wasting callers, are you? Why don't you try my plan?

Mrs. Y.—What is your plan?

Mrs. X.—Why, when the bell rings I put on my hat and gloves before I press the button. If it proves to be some one I don't want to see I simply say, "So sorry, but I'm just going out."

Mrs. Y.—But suppose it's some one you do want to see?

Mrs. X.—Oh, then I say, "So fortunate; I've just come in."—Boston Transcript.

When Abstinence Was a Novelty.

Seventy years ago drinking was so common that, when a total abstainer applied to a London company for a life insurance policy, the board of directors held a special meeting to deal with the unprecedented case. They finally decided to insist on a special premium to cover the extra hazard, but the man upset their expectations by dying to the age of eighty-two.—Youth's Companion.

A Note of Apprehension.

"Do you think your boy Josh will be satisfied to stay on the farm?"

"Mebbe it'll be just as well if he isn't," commented Farmer Cornsossel. "The way he wants to run the place, if he is satisfied nobody else can be half way comfortable."—Washington Star.

What He Said.

"So Grabum is after everything he can get. Did you say he was getting well off?"

"Not exactly. I merely remarked that he was getting off easily."—Judge.

COL. E. H. WOLFE ANSWERS CALL

Veteran of Civil War and Prominent
Mason Succumbs Following
Long Illness at Home Here

ACTIVE IN LODGE AFFAIRS

Has Brilliant Record as Soldier—
Funeral Services Will be Held
Saturday Afternoon

Col. E. H. Wolfe, 81 years old, widely known Mason and veteran of the Civil war died this afternoon at 1:45 o'clock at his home in North Harrison street, following a long illness from a complication of diseases.

He had been in a serious condition for some time and while his death was expected it never-the-less came as a shock to his family and a wide circle of friends. Col. Wolfe had been in ill health since early last spring, suffering from a general breakdown.

Col. Wolfe was born in the city September 26, 1834 and was a son of the late Joel Wolfe. He fought in the army beside his father, who was killed in the battle of Richmond. The war record of Col. E. H. Wolfe is very striking as well as brilliant. He enlisted in the army at the age of 20 years and served throughout. His promotions were rapid due to gallantry and efficient service. He held the office of major, then Lieutenant Colonel and Colonel and was mustered out with the rank of Brigadier General. He was at one time in command of the post at Columbus, Ky., and was with Gen. Sherman on his march to the sea.

In many respects Col. Wolfe was a wonderful man. For one of his advanced age his activity was remarkable. During his long service as state inspector of the Masonic lodge Col. Wolfe traveled extensively over the state and even in his advanced age this did not appear to be a handicap. He gave up active work about two months ago and had been in bed practically ever since. He was almost as widely known outside of Rush county as in it.

Col. Wolfe's life work was centered about his active interest in the Masonic lodge and this feature stands out in his life's history as prominently as does his war record. On April 8th, 1865 he became a member of Phoenix lodge No. 62, F. and A. M.; he was worshipful master of that order for eleven years, beginning in 1870; on February 10, 1869, he became a member of Rush chapter, No. 24, R. A. M.; he was taken in the Rushville council No. 41, R. and S. M., on April 21, 1874; he attained the super-excellent master degree on May 13, 1901; he was charter member of the Rushville commandery, being taken in on May 12, 1904; and was a member of Martha Poe chapter, 143 O. E. S. after September 27, 1904; he took the ancient accepted order of Scottish Rite and thirty-second degree at Indianapolis and received the thirty-third degree in Boston in September, 1907.

In Chicago in September 1914, he received the royal order of Scotland; he was a member of the St. James Conclave in Indianapolis and was prelate of the council. For the past 11 years he has been Grand Inspector of the Grand Lodge until the time of his death which was an unusual distinction.

Col. Wolfe was an active member of the First Presbyterian church. He is survived by two children, Mrs. Fanny Maupin of this city, and Charles Wolfe of Washington, D. C.

NEXT SESSION TO BE AT FAIRLAND

Flatrock Baptist Association Ad-
journs at Rays Crossing After Sermon by Huntington

PASTOR TALKS ON TITHING

Next year's meeting of the First Baptist association will be held in Fairland. The annual session closed yesterday at the Little Blue River church, near Rays Crossing. The time of next year's meeting will be determined by the moderator, the Rev. H. N. Spear and his executive board.

The final sermon of the meeting yesterday was delivered by the Rev. S. G. Huntington of this city. He spoke on the subject "Giving to the Lord." He assured his hearers that there is a better plan than the tithing system and that is the one laid down in the New Testament of laying aside the first day of the week as God has proposed. He said this meant that we owe our all to God and that even the tenth as under the old Mosaic law is not sufficient.

WINNING FOOTBALL TEAM ANTICIPATED

Heze Clark, Former I. U. Star Half-
back, Will Coach Local Professionals This Year

SOME GAMES ARE BOOKED

Jack Stonecipher is going to have a professional football team this year with which he hopes to clean up all the strong teams in the state. Arrangements have been completed, it is announced, for Heze Clark, former I. U. star half back and now reporter on an Indianapolis newspaper, will coach the team. He will come here August 27 to look over the field and see what the prospects are. Jack is out gunning now for material and hopes to draw several starts from other points in the state.

A game has already been booked for September with Pine Village, the championship team in the northern part of the state which has not been defeated in 169 games. A game has also been scheduled with Brownsburg, also a very strong professional team. The local team is also trying to get games with Anderson, Sheridan, Fort Wayne and other prominent professional aggregations. No games will be played here.

The McCarty sale conducted Tuesday was under the auspices of J. B. McCarty and Carl McCarty instead of G. P. McCarty as was stated in the paper last evening.

TEN-CENT LOAF HOVERING NEAR

Local Bakers Say That With Price
of Flour Mounting They Face
Serious Situation

QUESTION FOR HOUSEWIVES

Possibility of Reducing Size of 5-
Cent Loaf or Discontinuing
it All Together

With wheat and flour prices soaring, local bakers are facing a situation that will have to be met sooner or later. There are several courses that can be followed, but just which one they will take is yet to be determined. Many places the bakers are charging six cents for the old five cent loaf and in other places they have done away entirely with the five cent loaf and are making only the ten cent size.

W. W. Weakly, owner of the bakery in McClaren street, stated today that he was undecided just what to do. He stated that the situation was grave from the standpoint of a baker in order to make any money selling bread at five cents a loaf.

A. W. Wilkinson, another baker, declared that he was in favor of the ten cent loaf. "At present the sixteen ounce loaf selling at five cents gives the baker no profit," said Mr. Wilkinson. "I have been considering the making of a ten cent loaf of twenty ounces." He declared that it was a question of cutting down the size of the present five cent loaf or making only the ten cent loaf. "With flour at $8.10 a barrel," he said, "there is little money in bread and only a certain number of loaves can be gotten from a barrel of flour."

The National Bakers' organization is advocating the ten cent loaf. Paul Schultze, of the Schultze Baking Company of Chicago, in an interview says: "With the leading brands of flour at the unprecedented price of $8.10 a barrel to the dealer, and with every indication that it will mount higher, the housewife must forthwith concern herself with the problem of the breadbuying situation."

"Nevertheless everybody for a time at least may buy bread as economically, even with the small loaf at six cents. Bakers can continue to sell the large size, or ten cent loaf at its present price. From the economy, that is the size to buy anyhow."

"As I said, for a time we can bake the 10-cent loaf in the same size as heretofore. This we shall be able to do because of the labor cost saved in baking and handling the larger loaf. It does not take any more labor to make and cut dough for the ten cent loaf than for the five cent loaf. It takes no more trouble in handling it to and from the ovens, in wrapping it, loading it on the wagons and delivering it to the stores. All this saving we can turn to the relief of the housewife in these high wheat times."

"The big ten cent loaf is the ideal and practical loaf of the household. Some housekeepers have objected to it on the ground that their families do not eat the entire loaf in a day and they did not care to keep the remainder of the loaf until the next day. If they will wrap the left-over piece in the up-to-date original airtight wrapper, it will keep as fresh as it was the first day. Furthermore, bread on the second day is more wholesome than on the first. One good way to save money is to toast the left-over bread."

LOCAL BOYS MAY BE DISAPPOINTED

Protest Against Mustering out College Organizations on Border to be Filed

DISSATISFACTION CAUSED

Indiana Organizations Resent Stu-
dent Order—Five From Here
Hoped to be Out Sept. 1.

A proposed protest against what is commonly called the student order, under which the five Rushville boys with Battery B on the Mexican border hoped to be mustered out by September 1, may cause the local militiamen to be disappointed.

Because of the general complaints from the other members of the Indiana unit about the alleged discrimination of the order by the war department, the colonels of the three Indiana regiments and the major of the artillery will lay a protest before Brigadier-General E. M. Lewis, commander of Camp Llano Grande, according to a dispatch by W. H. Blodgett.

The action of the commanders, it is set forth, is not in the nature of a round robin, but is a respectful review of the situation in the hope that President Wilson will either rescind the order or change it.

The dissatisfaction, it is stated in the dispatch, is due not to the fact that the students are going home but because of what many call unfair discrimination against others of the Indiana troops who really have more cause for leaving the service than others.

For the most part, the students are supported by their parents or relatives. Not many of them pay their own way through college. In extremely rare instances only is any one depending on them for support and the feeling among the Indiana soldiers is that the students are the ones who best could be retained in the service.

On the other hand, there are in the Indiana units some young doctors, young lawyers, young dentists, and members of other professions who have just started out in life, who were beginning to get a clientele when the call came and they must stay to the ruin of their business, and the damage to their prospects. There are some apprentices, too, who would like to finish the trades they were learning when called to the colors. There are numerous business men whose affairs are suffering by their absence and there are men who gave up good positions to come here on the call.

All of them must stay unless they can be relieved under the dependent law. As the result of the situation created by the student order, the Indiana troops will be so greatly reduced in numbers that it is possible that Indiana, instead of being a unit of its own, will be part of a unit from some other state. To head off this skeletonizing of the Indiana national guard, the commanding officers are preparing to make a protest against what commonly is called the student order.

The Moore cases set for trial this morning in Squire Kratzer's court were continued until tomorrow morning by agreement of the parties. Dugan's attorney, who will assist the state was out of the city and the prosecutor was called to Glenwood. The continuance was granted by Squire Kratzer.

LARGE PIPE FALLS ON HAND

John Heisner of Manilla Sustains
Painful Injury

John Heisner of Manilla suffered a painful injury yesterday when a large pipe fell on his left hand mashing the middle finger. He was engaged in drilling a well at the home of John Kuntz, north of Manilla and was lifting the pipe out of the ground with a large chain. The chain slipped letting the pipe fall on his hand. It is believed that the finger will have to be amputated.

Mr. Heisner is the father-in-law of Mayor Bebout.

GLENWOOD AFTER AUTO SPEEDERS

Axel Pierson of Connersville is
Latest Victim—Pays Fine and
Costs Amounting to $8.85.

OFFENSE OCCURRED AUG. 6

Automobile speeders are finding the going through Glenwood a little tough. Axel Pierson of Connersville is the latest victim. He paid a fine and costs amounting in all to $8.85 this morning in Squire Thompson's court. The offense took place on August 6.

Pierson went so fast through the town that the marshal did not have time to stop him but succeeded in obtaining his license number. The owner of the car was then obtained from the secretary of state's office. This is the third speeder arrested and fined there within the past three weeks. Squire Thompson is determined that the practice will stop.

In a conversation this morning the justice of peace characterized Pierson's driving as "dangerous to life, limb and property." Prosecutor Stevens appeared at the hearing this morning expecting a trial but the defendant pleaded guilty.

IMPORTED HORSE CAN NOT BE STARTED

Rules Surrounding County Road
Races Will be Observed Strictly it is Stated

ENTRIES MUST BE IDENTIFIED

The speed department of the Rush county fair, which will be held next week, has made it plain that the rules governing the county road races this year will be strictly observed. It is stated explicitly that no horse imported into Rush county for the purpose of racing it in either of the road races will be allowed to enter. Neither will a horse that has been bought lately by a Rush county man for no other reason than to race it in these events be allowed to race. It is also stated that a horse transferred to a Rush county owner by special sale will not be allowed to start. Every horse which goes under the wire in these two events must be identified as a Rush county horse.

Those in charge of this feature of the speed department say that the business men have doubled the purse for these events in order to see a Rush county road race and they expect it to be one. The county road track will be run on Tuesday and the pace on Friday.

WILSON CALLS HEADS OF ROADS

Sends For Railroad Presidents For
Conference After Settlement
Reached Deadlock

TO APPEAL TO STOCKHOLDERS

Intimated That he May go Over Officials' Heads in Effort to
Prevent Strike

Washington, D. C., August 17.—Reaching what apparently was a deadlock in the attempted settlement of the threatened railroad strike, President Wilson today sent a telegram to the presidents of the great railroad systems of the country asking that they come to Washington for a conference at once. The telegram says:

"Discussion of the matters involved in the threatened railroad strike has reached a point which makes it highly desirable that I should personally confer with you at the earliest possible moment and with the presidents of any other of the railroads affected who may be immediately accessible. Hope you can make it convenient to come to Washington at once."

Before sending the telegram the president talked with President Willard of the Baltimore & Ohio by long distance telephone and was assured by Willard that the railroad heads would come to Washington immediately.

The president in calling the railroad heads before him does not consider that he appealed to the "ultimate authority" it was learned after he had a long conference with William Chambers, of the United States Board of Mediation.

The expression "ultimate authority" was used by Chambers. Exactly what the president had in mind is not known but it is possible he may appeal over the presidents' heads and go to the stockholders themselves or seek another vote of the situation.

Immediately following his conference with Chambers the president retired to his library to consider his conference with the representatives of the brotherhoods.

POLITICAL POT IS BOILING IN INDIANA

Democrats and Republicans Held

Rallies and Prohibits Continue

Their Auto Tour of State

ACTIVE ALL OVER THE STATE

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, Aug. 17.—Indiana boiled, politically speaking, yesterday. Both democratic and republican parties held rallies while the prohibitionists continued their automobile canvass of the state.

The republicans of northeastern Indiana gathered at a big rally at Huntington. It was an all-day affair with a picnic dinner and music by several bands. Addresses, by James Goodrich, republican candidate for governor, and the two G. O. P. senatorial candidates, Harry S. New and James E. Watson, were made.

In addition to several smaller meetings throughout the state, southeastern Indiana democrats gathered at Greensburg in the afternoon and held a big Wilson Club banquet at night.

Last night the Young Republican Club of Anderson entertained the First Voters' Club of Elwood at a smoker at Elwood.

WHEEL LIBRARIES FOR MEN.

Germany Sending Motor Trucks With

Books to Men on Fighting Front.

"Books for soldiers" has become the slogan of a great part of the stay at home population of Germany, and the popularity of the bildungsroman (educational canon), as the field circulating libraries are called by the men in gray, seems almost to rival that of the famous gulashkanone, which supply the hot meals that keep the Kaiser's fighters in condition.

The task of distributing the books has been taken over by a special committee, headed by Undersecretary Conze, which has begun to send out the libraries on wheels and which hopes to have 100 of them in service within a short time.

These bildungsromane, as described in the Berliner Tagblatt, consist of big motor trucks, carrying from 1,000 to 1,500 volumes each, arranged on shelves and looked after by a librarian. The first five of the field libraries were sent to the eastern front. As the roads in Poland and Serbia in some cases do not admit of the use of the heavy lorries, arrangements have been made for forwarding the books in special chests.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. FOR A MERCHANT MARINE
WITHOUT FEDERAL COMPETITION.

Again, we must build up our merchant marine. It will not aid to put the government into competition with private owners. That, it seems to me, is a counsel of folly. A surer way of destroying the promise of our foreign trade could hardly be devised. It has well been asked, "Does the government intend to operate at a profit or at a loss? We need the encouragement and protection of government for our shipping industry, but it cannot afford to have the government as a competitor."—From Mr. Hughes' Speech of Acceptance.

DECRYING INTERFERENCE,
WE INTERFERED IN MEX-ICO EXASPERATINGLY.

The dealings of the administration with Mexico constitute a confused chapter of blunders. We have not helped Mexico. She lies prostrate, impoverished, famine stricken, overwhelmed with the woes and outrages of internecine strife, the helpless victim of a condition of anarchy which the course if the administration only served to promote. For ourselves, we have witnessed the murder of our citizens and the destruction of their property. We have made enemies, not friends. Instead of commanding respect and deserving good will by sincerity, firmness and consistency, we provoked misapprehension and deep resentment. In the light of the conduct of the administration no one could understand its professions. Decrying interference, we interfered most exasperatingly. We have not even kept out of active conflict, and the soil of Mexico is stained with the blood of our soldiers. We have resorted to physical invasion only to retire without gaining the professed object. It is a record which cannot be examined without a profound sense of humiliation.—From Mr. Hughes' Speech of Acceptance.

timore Platform?

The president has boldly signed the Pork river and harbor bill, and his facile pen is dripping with ink eager to attach itself to a pork public buildings bill.

The friendliest apologists of the president's part in the profligate waste of money wrung from the people by oppressive taxation have nothing better to say for him than that it is hardly fair to expect a man to say "I forbidd!" in his presidential year when he is a candidate.

The foregoing words describing the profligate waste of the people's money with executive approval are taken without change from a plank of the platform on which Woodrow Wilson was elected in 1912.

"We denounce the profligate waste of money wrung from the people by oppressive taxation through the lavish appropriations of recent Republican congresses, which have kept taxes high and reduced the purchasing power of the people's toil. We demand a return so that simplicity and economy which befits a democratic government."

How much is now left of the principles declared and the promises registered at Baltimore as inducements to citizens to vote for Wilson.

Possibly it is because he and his party have been such reckless, such wholesale repudiators of the pledges of 1912 that few people remember or care to remember what pledges were made in his behalf about forty days ago at St. Louis.—New York Sun.

THE AMERICAN WORKING MAN SHALL NOT SUFFER

The Republican party stands for the principle of protection. We must apply that principle fairly, without abuses, in as scientific a manner as possible; and congress should be aided by the investigations of an expert body. We stand for the safeguarding of our economic independence, for the development of American industry, for the maintenance of American standards of living. We propose that in the competitive struggle that is about to come the American workingman shall not suffer.—From Mr. Hughes' Speech of Acceptance.

Phrases which will NOT appear in the Woodrow Wilson speech of acceptance:
Psychological prosperity.
Mistakes to catch flies.
Strict accountability.
Too proud to fight.

Wilson and the Strike

Representatives of the railway employees and the heads of the railways journeyed to Washington together and, according to authentic reports from there, made such progress toward an agreement that there is believed to be no reason why Mr. Wilson, speaking with the authority of the President, cannot effect a settlement at an early day. Naturally there is great relief in New York over this prospect. Such a settlement would, of course, merely avert all immediate danger of a strike, but there will remain many questions to be settled, either by mediation, or possibly by arbitration. The danger of this great strike has served to emphasize the need of that exclusive federal control of the railways advocated in Republican platform, which declares that "The entire transportation system of the country has become essentially national," and advocates an amendment to the Constitution which will "result in placing it under complete federal control."

Maine Prospects

The Republican managers profess to be extremely optimistic regarding the outcome of the Maine election, which takes place on September 11. Both parties have determined to send an army of speakers into the state. The more notable among the Republicans will be Gov. Hughes and Col. Roosevelt. Among the Democrats will be Senator J. Ham Lewis, Secretaries Daniels and Baker and a number of others. Two Senators (one to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Burleigh) a governor and four members of the House will be chosen. The Republicans base their optimism largely on the fact that the combined Republican and Progressive vote in 1912 exceeded Mr. Wilson's vote by 24,000 votes, and the further fact that before the outbreak of the European war Maine industries were suffering severely from the effects of the Underwood tariff. Vance McCormick has just returned from a survey of the Maine political situation. He was plainly disturbed by the prospects and after remaining in New York only long enough to change his collar he rushed off to Washington to confer with the President.

Hughes Will Explain

Republican Nominee Charles Evans Hughes proposes to devote a considerable part of his attention to the mal-administration of the National Bank Act by Comptroller John Skelton Williams. Williams, G.

McAdoo and Woodrow Wilson, is an occasion of considerable anxiety to the Democratic managers. John Skelton Williams is one of the venerable spots in the Wilson administration. Had the advice of the wiser politicians in Mr. Wilson's cabinet, such for instance as Postmaster General Burleson, Secretary Garrison and former Attorney General MacReynolds, been heeded, Williams would long ago have been dismissed. There is a peculiar and mysterious tie which binds together President Wilson, son-in-law, Secretary McAdoo, and Williams, and every banker in the country will await with the utmost interest Mr. Hughes' explanation of the mystery and exposure of the inside facts, almost ruining some of them, is realized by bankers throughout the country, and in this course he has continuously enjoyed the backing of McAdoo and Wilson. Some bankers are indignant, but are too fearful of the vindictive power of the administration to speak for publication.

Napoleon Was Too Busy!

WAS a sad day for the French Emperor when he sent out the "too busy" message to a certain man who called with an idea. He told his assistants to attend to it. They lacked Napoleon's vision and soon after they took down the Corsican's sign "Emperor."

Napoleon's particular caller this busy day was Robert Fulton, who wanted to show him how he could take his troops to England by steam. Had Napoleon's eye been on the future and not glued to the present there would have been a different map of Europe, and no lonely cell at St. Helena.

During these extra war boom times a few Napoleons of business have used the "too busy" excuse when the vital question of advertising was presented to them.

They have been too busy for the immediate present to entrench prosperity and establish future good will.

To them just these words—"Remember Napoleon." Don't put off the vital question of your newspaper plans any longer. Don't wait until your competitors have covered the field.

TEN-CENT LOAF HOVERING NEAR

The danger of flour prices going higher, and when they do the bakers will be helpless, so far as maintaining bread prices at their present level is concerned. From the great wheat sections of the Dakotas and Minnesota I have positive information that but a small percentage of the crop forecasted from them will be delivered. The blight and rust, developed by the intense heat in the northwest, have cut the yield to a minimum. This means high priced flour with small chance of a retreat in the prices.

I most certainly believe an embargo should be placed on wheat. We have, it is true, enough wheat in this country for this year. But should the wheat crop next year be a failure, our country would face a calamity.

"The country generally, faces an increase in the price of the five cent loaf of bread. But no evil is as bad as it first appears. If the present high price of wheat teaches the housewife to buy the ten cent loaf of bread, it will have accomplished a great lesson in domestic economy."

AGED RANCHER MAKES COSTLY TRIP TO ST. PAUL

Loses $700 In Quick Time—He Has, However, Two Mummies and a Freak Sheep to Show.

St. Paul.—An interest in two mummies, one six legged sheep and a broken down auto truck is all John McMahon, one time longshoreman and prizefighter and later North Dakota rancher, has to show for $700 from which he has been separated since coming to St. Paul last December. McMahon is sixty-five years old and says he ought to have known better. "But folks talk so well that an old fellow like me believes them."

When McMahon reached St. Paul he met a man who took him to his home, and there, McMahon says, he was robbed of $150. The case was taken to court, but the defendant was dismissed. "Well, that was the beginning of my troubles," McMahon said. "The police tried to look after me, but I wouldn't allow them, and now I have only $400 left out of the $1,100 which I got when I sold my ranch near Bowman, N. D., and came here."

Shortly after this experience McMahon met Mr. and Mrs. Joseph La Porte, who were living at the same hotel with him.

"They were mighty nice folks at first and took me out for a good time," McMahon explained. "We went to shows and had dinners and nice little parties."

After the first week's entertainment by the La Porte family, McMahon said, they started to talk to him about the show business. They told him of the money they made traveling with carnival companies using the six legged sheep and the mummies for attractions.

"It looked like a gold mine to me, and I asked them to let me in on it, and for awhile I was worried for fear they wouldn't do it," the old man said. "But later they let me in, and I have been spending money on that sheep and those two fake mummies ever since."

Papers in Plaster Cast.
A nurse entering Holland from Germany had a "broken" arm that was incased in plaster of paris. Arriving at the frontier, where every one has to submit to search, the military guard demanded that the casing be ripped open. When the cast was broken some eighty letters lay exposed. The arm was perfectly whole and healthy.

Improvements in Berlin.
In Berlin the municipal government is prosecuting a $25,000,000 subway and a $10,000,000 dock improvement precisely as if the nation were at peace. When they are completed the city will own them.

FEATS OF FANATICS

Dervishes of the Orient and Their Curious Practices

SEEM INSENSIBLE TO PAIN.

These Religious Enthusiasts Cut and Slash Themselves, and Under Correct Conditions No Blood Flows—Magical Cures by the Sheik.

Much has been written on the subject of the astounding things that are done by dervishes and the apparent insensibility to pain and injury that their fanaticism gives them, but the vivid account given by a writer in Blackwood's of some of these facts witnessed by himself cannot fail to prove of interest.

"In Constantinople you may see at any time howling dervishes, who howl professionally in their worship, and in Konia whirling dervishes, who similarly whirl instead of howl. And upon the road and in villages and country towns of the Turkish empire are to be met dervishes of the mendicant orders—wild eyed, austere men carrying bowl and battle ax, who wander afoot to places where most alms may be found. But those dervishes who lacerate themselves as the aim of their ecstasy are not, I think, to be found in any district near the coast or easy of access. In only one small town, a long way in the interior of Asia Minor, did I ever see one of their performances, and then it was in the way of a favor."

After describing the long processes of preparation by which the necessary "atmosphere" is obtained, the writer goes on:

"Presently two men left the semicircle of dervishes and stood before the sheik. On them the preparation had done its work and they were ready to begin laceration. The sheik licked the blades of two thin dagger-like knives with his tongue and handed them to the devotees. Each immediately pressed the knife through his own cheeks. It went in at one side and the point came out at the other. Meanwhile the swordsmen leaped and the semicircle roared and swayed with redoubled energy."

"Again the sheik licked two knives and handed them to the men, and again they pushed them through their cheeks, this time in the opposite direction. No blood flowed, and the operation looked as harmless, once you had seen it done, as stabbing a Dutch cheese. The sheik drew out the knives, wet the ball of his thumb upon his tongue, clapped it on the holes, and no holes could be seen, but merely white scars."

"Now, one who has not seen these or similar things done may think that some sleight of hand took place, or, failing that possibility, that I imagined these sights, being under strong influence so to do. I can only offer the evidence of my senses. I was within a distance of two or three yards when the cheeks were pierced, looked at them from two feet with the knives still in position, and at the same distance looked at the white scars that a few seconds before had been palpable holes. If I was hypnotized so were all of us, for we saw alike."

"When the display with knives was over two other men came forward as candidates for the spiked balls. The upper and lower points of the spikes were licked by the sheik and play began. The lower point was placed in the open palm of one hand, the upper point was capped by the open palm of the other, and then by a slight circular movement of the upper hand the ball was rotated violently. As it did so short lengths of chain attached to the circumference spread out and acted as a flywheel. With the balls spinning in this fashion the men began to leap, throwing them into the air, catching them with the point on an open palm and always keeping up the spinning."

"It was clever in its way, but no more, and I was thinking it a simple trick when one man dashed the spiked point forcibly into his head. The other fellow immediately followed by thrusting his into his neck. Both balls fell over and hung suspended with the point remaining in the flesh. These wounds immediately drew blood. Blood drawing, however, was not in the game. It showed something amiss—insufficient faith or preparation or both—and the sheik hastened to staunch it. His thumb went first to his inflexible tongue and then to the wounds. The flow ceased under the application, and other men took up the balls. Sometimes they drew blood and sometimes not, but all the wounds made were immediately closed by the sheik and left only white scars. And these, like the other scars, whether you believe it or not, presently faded out of sight."

"It was nearing midnight when all was over. In the bazaar the next morning I recognized one of those who had used the spiked balls on the previous evening. He now appeared as an open faced youngster of eighteen or nineteen, with a smile that he could not suppress. He said he worked in the iron bazaar hard by, making rough hinges and other ironwork. And while he stood there, smiling and ingenuous, it needed an effort of mind to think of him as a fanatical dervish of the previous night's scene."

COHEN RUNS SMITH CLOSE RACE IN NEW YORK CITY

City Directory Gives Interesting Data About the Metropolis.

Bigger and better than ever, the largest city directory in the world is out in New York. The information afforded comprises not only the names and addresses of 1,210,000 men and women, but all that which was formerly included in older directories. It has 105,324 names more than the city directory of last year.

Aachen has been displaced as the first name in the book. That honor, like everything else worth while in New York, has been captured by a man from out of town. In this case he is Emil Aaby, an assistant engineer for New York city, who lives up in Dobbs Ferry. The last man is Barnett Zywsky, an expressman. There are nine and three-quarters pages of Smiths, the leaders of the big families, with the Cohens a close second, covering eight full pages.

It is interesting to note that, while the police census of New York makes the total population 5,372,983, taken in 1915, the directory census, taken in 1916, makes it 5,528,751. Safeguarding these people are 10,608 policemen and 66 matrons, with 4,943 firemen. The cost of supporting the public schools this year is $39,840,349.90. The average daily consumption of water is 550,000,000 gallons.

New York contains 155,000 one-family houses, 71,200 two-family houses and 101,000 flats and tenements. The city has twenty municipal hospitals, with accommodations for 13,802 persons.

The vagaries of the names in the big book are almost past reckoning. There are, for example, Blood, Bone, Boots, Gollars, Shillings, Tennises, Goits, Terrace, Flower, Pipers, Piddlers, Money, Primrose, Bauerwein, Kitchener, Joffrey, Bismarck, Napoleon, to say nothing of Michael Angelo, Thackeray, Nero, Hercules, Taxi, Ratz, Buffalow and Long.

SUSPENDED ANIMATION.

Life That Looks Like Real Death, Yet Revives After Many Months.

One of the most extraordinary manifestations of life is a condition quite common among the lower animals and known as anabiosis, or suspended animation. The creature is to all appearances dead. The most refined means of observation cannot detect a sign of life. The blood has ceased to flow. The nerves no longer respond to any stimulation. There is neither respiration, elimination nor sensation. This state may last a long time, but given the proper conditions the creature will come to life again.

The lower we go in the scale of life the more pronounced is this state of neither life nor death.

Some remarkable experiments conducted by E. Shultz and A. Singol of Petrograd are described by the Berlin correspondent of the Scientific American. The experimenters dried roundworms till they were as thin as paper strips, then cut them into thin slices. When placed in water the tissues swelled to their normal proportions, and the pieces of worm resumed their life just as do those of any worm that is cut up.

They took some threadworms, rotifers and microbes and dried them thoroughly, kept them thus for eight months, then locked them in an airtight box from which all oxygen was removed and through which a current of pure hydrogen flowed for two weeks. Thus they were not only dried, but effectually deprived of oxygen. Yet on being moistened they "came to life" again quickly. Strangest of all, those that had been locked in the hydrogen chamber revived in fifteen minutes, while those that had merely been dried needed forty minutes.

Works Both Ways.

Mrs. X.—Bothered with time wasting callers, are you? Why don't you try my plan?

Mrs. Y.—What is your plan?

Mrs. X.—Why, when the bell rings I put on my hat and gloves before I press the button. If it proves to be some one I don't want to see I simply say, "So sorry, but I'm just going out."

Mrs. Y.—But suppose it's some one you do want to see?

Mrs. X.—Oh, then I say, "So fortunate, I've just come in."—Boston Transcript.

When Abstinence Was a Novelty.

Seventy years ago drinking was so common that, when a total abstainer applied to a London company for a life insurance policy, the board of directors held a special meeting to deal with the unprecedented case. They finally decided to insist on a special premium to cover the extra hazard, but the man upset their expectations by dying to the age of eighty-two.—Youth's Companion.

A Note of Apprehension.

"Do you think your boy Josh will be satisfied to stay on the farm?"

"Mebbe it'll be just as well if he isn't," commented Farmer Cornstossel. "The way he wants to run the place, if he is satisfied nobody else can be halfway comfortable."—Washington Star.

Buy Advertised Brands — They're Best
 "Trade-marked" articles—things sold by NAME or DISTINGUISHING and IDENTIFYING BRANDS—must be kept at the highest standard of quality. The VALUE must never vary. For a maker to "cheapen" such an article would be to throw away the prestige he had fought so hard, and advertised so effectively, to gain.
